IV. Lead Poisoning Prevention & Healthy Homes Programs

A. Erie County Department of Health - Division of Environmental Health

LEAD POISONING

Despite significant progress, childhood lead poisoning remains a serious problem in Erie County and in the City of Buffalo. In children, lead exposure can result in neurological damage, including intellectual impairment, developmental delays, learning disabilities, memory loss, hearing problems, attention deficits, hyperactivity, behavioral disorders, and other health problems. Lead is particularly dangerous to children the age of 5 and under due to their normal hand-to-mouth activity, which increases the potential for exposure, as well as the rapid growth and development of their nervous systems and their greater rate of lead absorption in their bodies.

AREAS OF CONCERN

Nine of Erie County zip codes - 14201, 14207, 14208, 14209, 14210, 14211, 14212, 14213, and 14215 - have been designated by the NYS Department of Health as “Communities of Concern”, where children are at exceptionally high risk for lead poisoning. While all of these zip codes lie within the City of Buffalo, conditions that give rise to lead poisoning can be found anywhere in Erie County. Since there is no medical treatment to permanently reverse the adverse health effects of lead exposure in children, it is critical to focus on prevention.

To combat this serious public health threat, public and private dollars have been invested in Erie County with the goal to eliminate lead poisoning through the remediation of homes, education & training opportunities, and building the capacity of the community to collectively address this serious issue.

V. ENERGY AND UTILITY SAVINGS ASSISTANCE

Paying your energy bill each month often can be a challenge. There are many programs available in Erie County that may be able to assist you and your family. One way to help conserve energy and make your home more energy efficient is to participate in programs including Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP) or the Energy Savings Assistance Program, and the Home Performance with Energy Star Program. All offer no-cost / low cost energy-saving home improvement services which can make your home more comfortable while saving money.

A. WEATHERIZATION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (WAP)

The Weatherization Assistance Program assists income-eligible families and individuals by reducing their heating and cooling costs and addressing health and safety issues in their homes through energy-efficiency measures. Weatherization services reduce the amount of energy required to heat and cool homes and provide hot water, thus reducing energy consumption, while minimizing the impact of higher fuel costs on low-income families. Household energy-use reductions and resultant energy cost savings are significant, with an average annual savings in excess of 20%.
